UMES' HISTORY

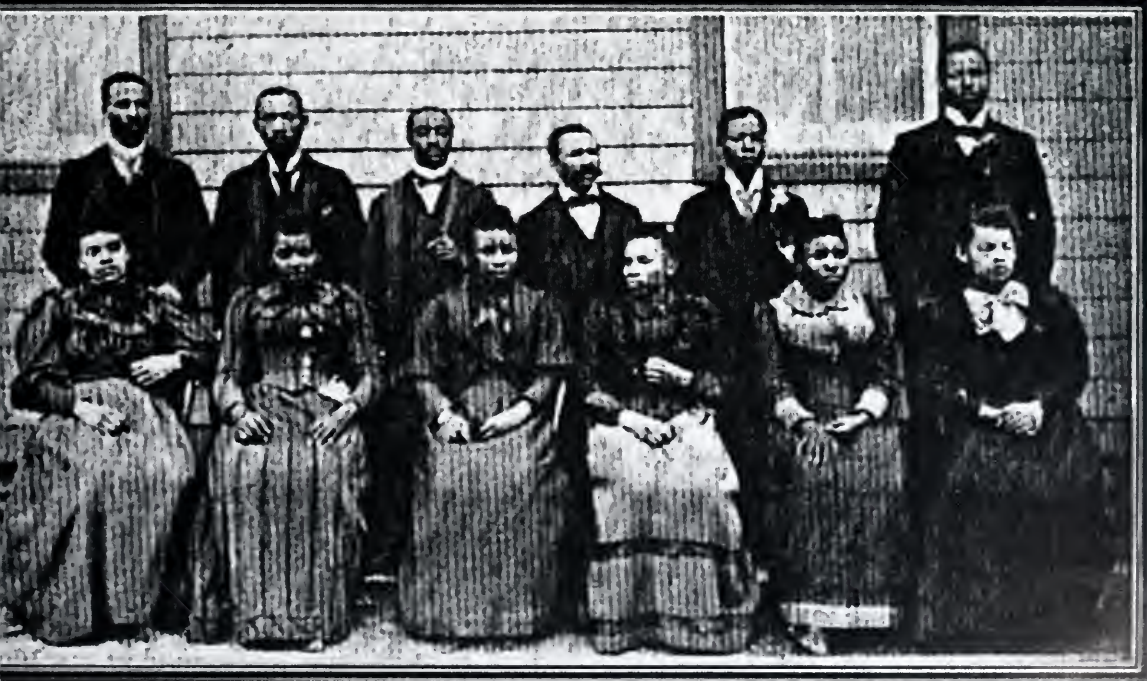

Public Entrance to the University

March 17, 1890

From the first building of 1890

The University of Maryland Eastern Shore had its origin on September 13, 1886. Initiated under the Delaware Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, it opened as the Delaware Conference Academy in Princess Anne on the date with nine students and one faculty. In 1926, the College passed into complete control and ownership of the State and the University of Maryland was designated as the administrative agency. In 1948, the Eastern Shore Branch of the University of Maryland, popularly known as Princess Anne College, became officially Maryland State College, a division of the University of Maryland. On July 1, 1970, Maryland State College became the University of Maryland Eastern Shore. Today, the university offers major programs leading to the B.A. and B.S. degrees in 26 disciplines in the arts and sciences, professional studies and agricultural sciences.

UMES ...celebrating 120 years Of Learning and Leadership

The University of Maryland Eastern Shore (UMES) is a land-grant, historically black college founded in 1886 as the Delaware Conference Academy. Since its beginning, the institution has had several name changes and governing bodies. It was Maryland State College from 1948 until 1970, when it became one of the five campuses that formed the University of Maryland. In 1988, it became a member of then eleven campus known as the University of Maryland System. Now with thirteen campuses, the University is presently an intricate and important part of University System of Maryland. UMES is accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools. This year the University celebrates its 120th Birthday. It has been a symbol and a beacon of this community for the past 120 years. This university was once a small sapling, but now has grown to a great oak tree. Planted firmly and permanently in the town of Princess Anne, the University of Maryland Eastern Shore shall continue to serve this town, this state and the world for another 120 years.

Editor in Chief

There are many phrases used to help people view their situation differently. Some of these phrases include, "think outside the box" or "enlarge your perspective." These mean that a person is always looking at dealing with a situation from a new perspective. Some people have heard the phrase "different, but not better."

Karl Binns

Copy-Editor

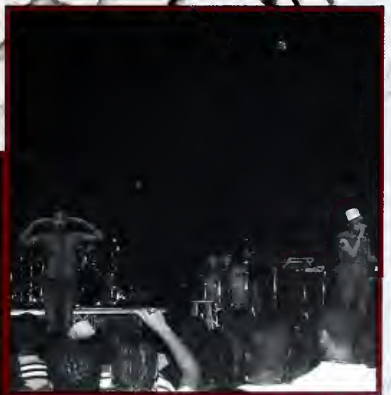

Famous painter Karel Kollwitz once said, "I do not want to die...until I have faithfully made the most of my talent and cultivated the seed that was placed in me until the last small twig has grown." This year's book had a mission to deliver the message that there is always more to life than what one may see or feel. I would like the students of LHS to know that, as soon as they stepped on to campus for their first year, the seed was planted. Until graduation, the seed was cultivated by hard work, diligent study, and life-changing experiences.

In the coming years, I would challenge you to use the world and use your knowledge and skills that you have gained as the best of their abilities. Be a documented example of what the school motto is: Grow and Give. Eastern High School is looking for students who are willing to grow and then waiting to be developed. Your success is worth the time and effort.

Hurricane Katrina Tribute

No one can ever forget the hurricane that hit Louisiana with such force and vengeance. Hurricane Katrina was the deadliest hurricane in the history of the United States. It caused devastation along much of the North-Central Gulf Coast of the United States. At least 1,836 people lost their lives in the hurricane and floods that followed. The storms estimated damages amounted to $81.2 billion, making it the costliest natural disaster in United States history. Hurricane Katrina is a story that will forever be remembered in the hearts of all citizens of the United States.

Hurricane Katrina survivors await evacuation at the Superdome

"The Candlelight Vigil was an event I personally wanted the students of UMES to share. The idea was created first by thinking about the number of people who were immediately affected by the hurricane. During the summer months, I met with other HBCU students from the Gulf Coast to show our HAWK support. I hope that one day the families who were displaced due to Hurricane Katrina will be able to restore their homes and lives."

- Terrell Fleming, past SGA President.

Students came out to support and remember those who lost their lives in the hurricane.

FLOETRY CONCERT

Singer/songwriter
Marsha also known as the
"Songstress"

Emcee/songwriter
Natalie also known as the
"Floacist."

The students of the University of Maryland Eastern Shore lined up in front of the Ella Fitzgerald Performing Arts Center in anticipation of the arrival of Floetry. Floetry is a female British R&B, neo soul, and hip-hop duo, so they have something that everyone can enjoy. The duo consists of singer/songwriter Marsha "the Songstress" Ambrosius and emcee/songwriter Natalie "the Floacist" Stewart. After the opening acts, Floetry took the stage and one could almost feel the energy that they brought to the room. Once they had gotten the stage warmed up, Floetry performed some of their well known hits, such as, "Say Yes", and "Supastar," as well as some lesser known songs. The mood was set and the whole crowd was vibing with the two talented ladies. What really made the concert special was Floetry's ability to communicate with the audience and make them feel like they were part of the show. In fact, the duo even started taking requests at the end of the show! The students at UMES definitely enjoyed a night of laid back rhythms as well as up-tempo showmanship provided by Floetry.

Dear Diary,

I applied to the University of Maryland Eastern Shore today! I'm so anxious.. I'm nervous but I'm pretty sure I'm going to be accepted. I am very confident in my college admissions essay, and my transcript proves that I am an intelligent student, but I am nervous about being accepted. I'm nervous because college is going to be a completely different experience for me. I don't really know what to expect. I'm worried I won't interact with my peers well. I still can't believe I'm out of high school! It all flew by so fast.

Lakeisha Manley

Dear Diary,

It's official now! I'm now moving on to the next chapter of my life. I received my acceptance letter today! I'm excited! I don't have to worry about being accepted anymore, but I'm still worried about blending in at college. I've always been a social butterfly in school, but college is different...I think. It still hasn't sunk in. I can't believe I'm about to go to college! I have so many feelings toward college right now. I'm scared, I'm nervous, I'm anxious, and I'm excited. This is unbelievable. Well at least I have one thing out of my way. I've been accepted.

- Lakeisha Manley

A Freshman's Experience

Dear Diary,

Today I arrived at school. It took me forever to park. I packed last night and then had to unpack today. I met my roommate. She's really down to earth and we have a lot in common. I think we will get along well. I've finally accepted the fact that I am in college now. I feel prepared and I am pretty sure I will perform to my parents expectations. My room is bigger and better than I had expected. My suite mates are going to take some getting use to, but overall I'm pretty satisfied with my choices thus far, and I'm excited about the experience of college.

- Lakeisha Manley

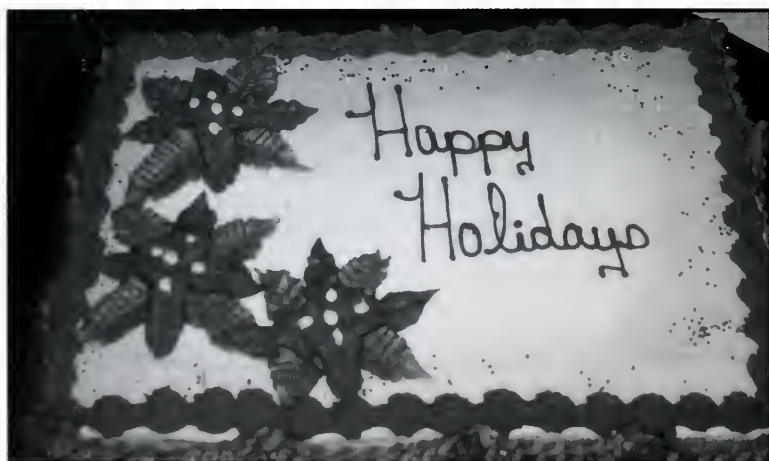

Dear Diary,

Today I had to go to the Student Services Center to complete my bill worksheet. I thought this would take me about twenty minutes, but when I arrived at the ballroom there were about one-hundred students in line. "I am going to be here all day," I thought to myself.

UMES' NEXT TOP MODEL

The class of 2007 along with Rave Wireless (Hawk Talk) and Omega Psi Phi Fraternity sponsored the second U.M.E.S. Next Top Model. The night was filled with beautiful women competing to see who will be the next U.M.E.S. Next Top Model. The seven contestants included students Shayla Hunter, Chermia Lucas, Dominique Suber, Regis Patterson, Aquila Williams, Ariana Forbes and Michelle Bynum. These ladies were judged on their ability to walk the "cat walk", maintain their poise, the individual style and their presentation. The five judges for this event featured Student Government Association President, Sarah Wallace, Murphy Hall Area Director Yahshikiah Williams, last years U.M.E.S. Next Top Model winner Dominique Calhoun and students Michael Moore and Arionne Carroll.

The show was hosted by the always energetic and crowd pleasing Senior and S.G.A. president for 2005 - 2006, Terrell Fleming. Not only was the event filled with beautiful models, the UMES' Diamond Dance Team performed and artist AR-15 from Interscope Records performed a couple songs during intermission. When it came to the end of the night there was only one winner. Five girls were eliminated, and the runner up was sophomore Regis Patterson. Shayla Hunter was name U.M.E.S.' Next Top Model. This event has become a huge hit on the campus and the students can not wait to see who will be U.M.E.S.' NEXT TOP MODEL.

Coronation

"Lost Treasures of Greece"

"I paced back and forth in my dressing room, dragging my white embroidered gown on the linoleum floor, I realized that my "big day" had arrived. Friday, October 20, at 8pm, the night of coronation-the night that I and so many others worked so hard to make a success was finally here!

The Ella Fitzgerald Performing Arts Center filled minute by minute, and with each minute, the butterflies in my stomach multiplied. My grandparents, aunts, uncles, cousins, and parents were all in attendance. I knew that if this night went well it would be a positive reflection on my reign as Miss UMES.

Coronation is one of the biggest events at UMES. It has long been a campus tradition to celebrate the incoming king and queen. The position of Mr. UMES is fairly new and did not come about until 1996.

Coronation gives the Royal Court (organizational kings and queens) the Imperial Court (class king and queens) the opportunity to represent their organization or class. Mr. and Miss UMES also have the opportunity to thank all the individuals who have played a role in their success...

...It is a tradition to have a theme for coronation, the theme this year was "Lost Treasures of Greece." The stage was decorated with live statues, a back drop of Greece, a fountain, and a throne on which the Imperial Court, Mr. UMES, and I sat...

..."Ashley, you are ambitious, and I truly admire your determination," said Carla Johnson, my mother. The entire night felt like a dream and I truly felt like the QUEEN!"

Midnight Madness

Radio DJ Bill Baker hosted the show and passed out free gifts to the audience.

PRINCESS ANNE, MD - The University of Maryland Eastern Shore (UMES) Department of Athletics kicked off the 2006-07 men and women's basketball season in fine fashion on Oct. 13 with the annual Midnight Madness celebration.

Magic 98.9 was on hand, broadcasting live with Bill Baker "The Rumpshaker" hosting the live remote. D.J. Blade from Force One Productions was also on hand to keep the party atmosphere going. The event also featured performances from the UMES Cheerleaders, The Diamonds Dance Team, and several other UMES Student organizations.

The night had the semi-finals and finals of the three-point shootout and slam-dunk contests that began. The Department of Athletics also planned a special treat in the form of a faculty/staff/alumni basketball game.

At approximately 9:00 pm, the women's basketball team was introduced and played an inter-squad scrimmage game for their first official practice. One hour later the men took the floor for their first practice, also playing an inter-squad game.

OSA's Annual Leadership Retreat

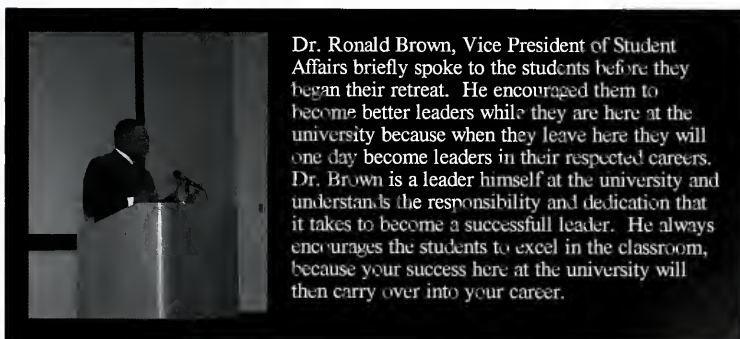

On February 16-18, 2007 the Office of Student Activities hosted their annual Leadership Retreat titled "Leadership with Style" at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore. The student leaders of UMES had the opportunity to meet with other student leaders on campus and also participate in numerous workshops.

The workshop presenters included Student Activities Director, Mr. James Lunnermon, II, Student Activities Assistant Director, Mr. Dwayne Walker, The Minority Scholarship Quest Program Founder, Ms. Jessica Johnson, and University Terrace Area Director, Ms. Aprille Williams. Each workshop had a specific purpose or goal for the student leaders. One of the workshops included Mr. Lunnermon's breakout titled, "Creativity and Advertisement in Leadership." This breakout was an activity that encouraged the students to think of creative and effective programs that students on campus could participate in. The goal was to not choose an activity that is usually performed on campus but an activity that would attract most students and keep them entertained and informed.

The Retreat ended with a presentation from the Minority Scholarship Quest Program that showed students the scholarships that go unclaimed each year. This presentation had students excited about filling out scholarships and other financial aid. The student leaders of this campus were eager and excited to carry the information to their organizations

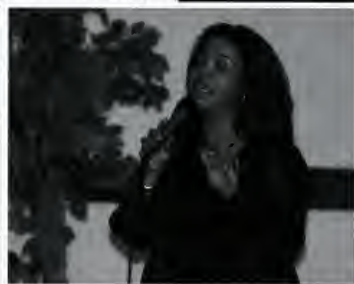

The founder of The Minority Scholarship Quest Program, Ms. Jessica Johnson presented the students with hundreds of scholarships that obtained to their majors and interest

Dr. Ronald Brown, Vice President of Student Affairs briefly spoke to the students before they began their retreat. He encouraged them to become better leaders while they are here at the university because when they leave here they will one day become leaders in their respected careers. Dr. Brown is a leader himself at the university and understands the responsibility and dedication that it takes to become a successful leader. He always encourages the students to excel in the classroom, because your success here at the university will then carry over into your career.

Fox Rich returns to UMES to inspire the students and let them know they have the POWER!

Fox Rich is a native of Shreveport, LA and shares her struggles with students. She shows them how you can overcome obstacles through perseverance

"In the words of Marcus McGarvey, who said, 'anything you say enough becomes the truth' I therefore say that Black folk are the best, baddest and most dynamic people on the face of the earth."

"Grown people make a change...if you don't like how it is, make like it ought to be."

Fox Rich...

The Realist Speaker in the 21st Century

"I got the power, the power is in me!" is the phrase Fox Rich used to motivate the crowd into believing that you hold the key to your own destiny. After overcoming a life full of struggles, Rich now travels around the country to Historical Black colleges empowering young minds to be aware of the significance of relationships. Not only the relationships you have with others, and the relationships you have in your community, but most importantly, the relationship you have with yourself.

Her words sent shock waves through the audience as she candidly shared her story of imprisonment, and how she overcame adversity. Fox Rich ended with the quote, "It's my world, and I'm going to push," letting everyone know that nothing is going to change unless you put forth a little effort.

LATIN DANCE

with EILEEN TORRES

Eileen Torres took her time and showed the class the basic steps to Salsa dancing.

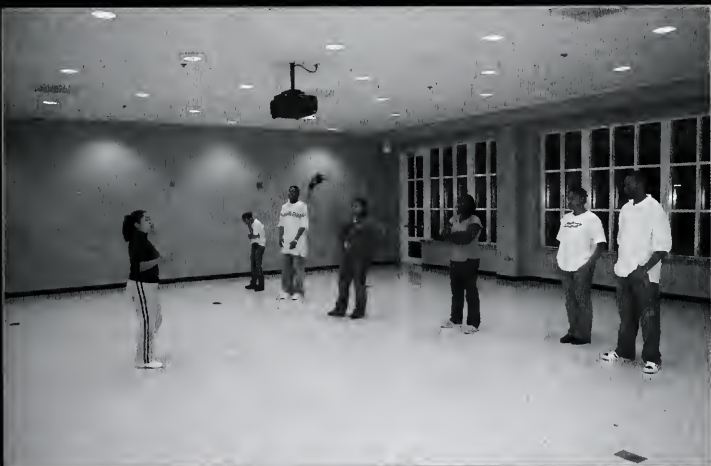

The students at UMES welcomed back Eileen Torres, the great Salsa dancer and instructor. Eileen as she told them to call her, first explained the history of the dance. Suprisingly, the dance originated in Africa and then was taken on by the hispanic community. The dance steps were a challenge and made the student sweat, but her enthusiasm made the students excited and eager to learn how to SALSA!! Once the students learned the basic steps the music came on. Students passing by we shocked to see the class moving gracefully. One student said, "Is that Ambiance?" This experience was a real work out and a lesson that all the students who participated will never forget.

Above, Copy Editor, Karl Binns learns the basic step. He should stick to copy editing!

Below, Rhea Ruiz masters the basic step and adds her own flavor to the dance.

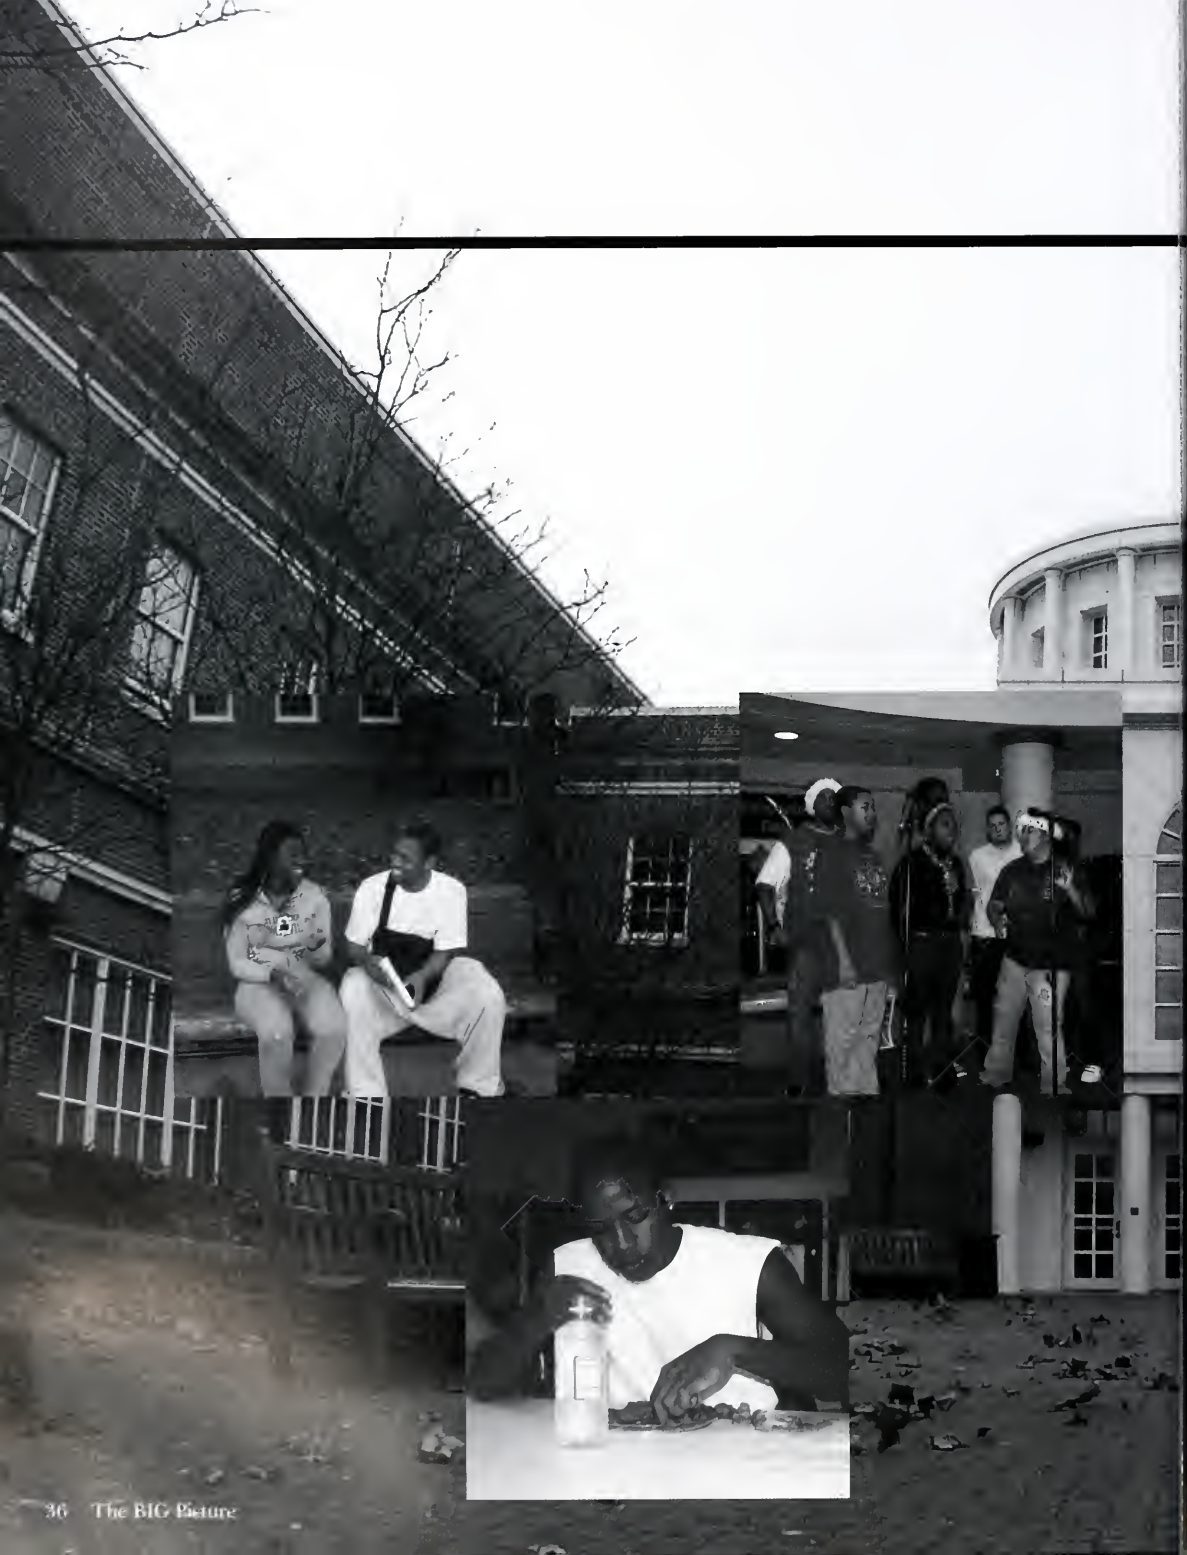

Omega Halloween Ball

Students used their creativity for the Halloween Ball. They came out as cartoon characters such as, "Robin," "The Cat in the Hat" or just plane scary.

Hang Out Spots On Campus

Often times you will hear students say "this campus is boring," or "I have nothing to do." Well in this section I would like to show you where students "hang out" on campus. The Office of Student Activities spends countless hours planning events and activities for the students. They show some of the latest movies in the universities' movie theater and host parties in Tawes Gym. Motivational speaker like Fox Rich and Latin Dance instructor Eileen Torres are just a few people that the Office of Student Activities has brought to entertain and motivate the campus community. Each week is filled of events, games, movies and social activities for the students. The majority of the events take place inside the Student Services Center (SSC) in either the rotunda or ballroom.

(Top) Building Manager Ty Northam not only supervises the bowling alley but he also the DJ.

(Bottom) Student demonstrating the correct way to bowl. I give him a perfect 10!!.

Game Room/Bowling Alley

The Game Room and Bowling Alley are located inside the Student Services Center. This area gives the students the opportunity to play ping-pong, chess and checkers. The game room is also equipped with a billiard room and arcade wall. The bowling alley is another exciting feature of the SSC. At night, students can listen to the latest songs and bowl under the black lights. Students can pay for all these services with their HAWK cards or spare change.

The Cafe and The Hawk's Nest

The Hawk's Nest also offers the students the option to eat in the dining hall, which is equipped with several televisions. This area is great for meeting with friends or with colleagues while enjoying a meal cooked fresh from open grill.

The Hawk's Nest gives the students the option to purchase combo meals such as chicken wings and french fries or the famous cheese steak subs or the fried fish sandwich.

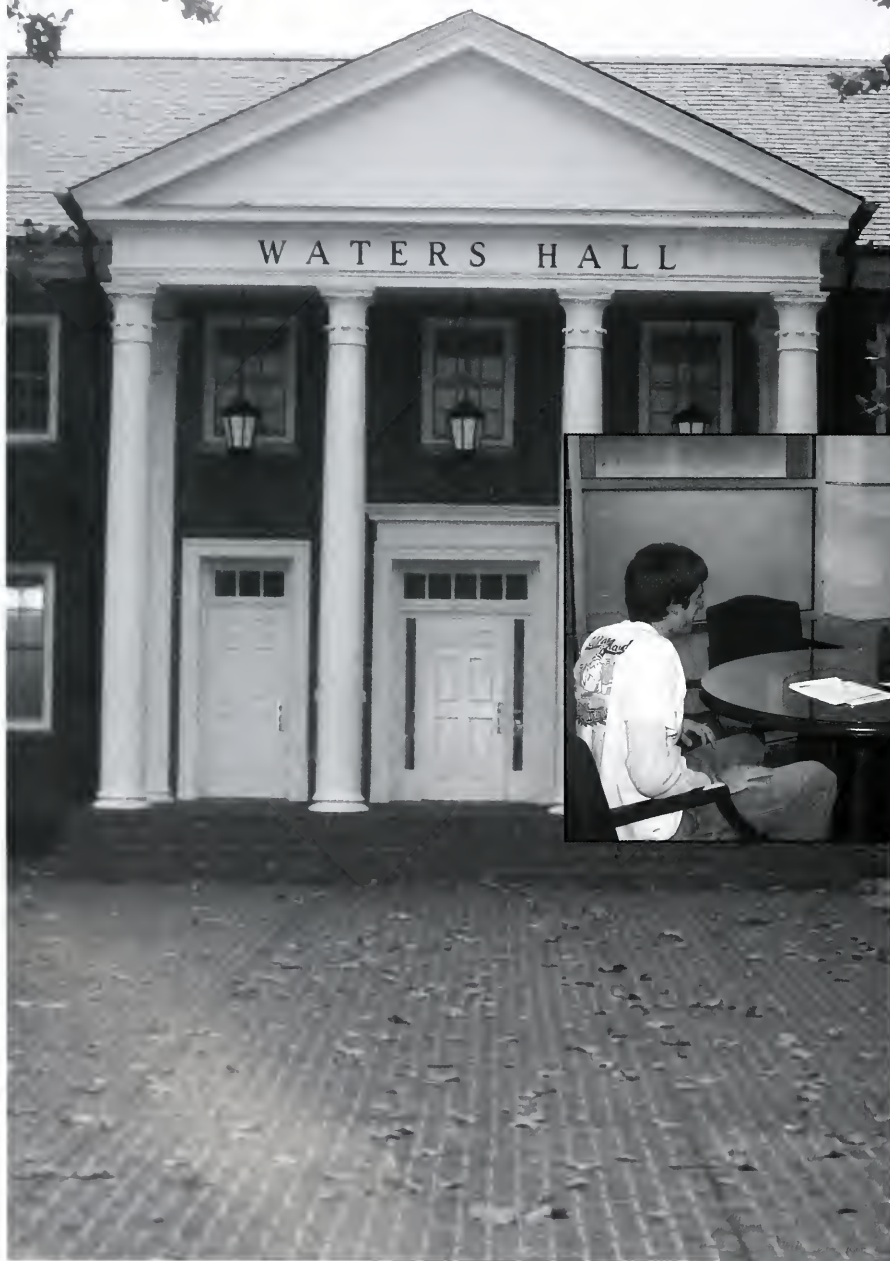

Students can enjoy a well balanced breakfast, a delicious lunch an exquisite dinner with options of numerous meats, vegetables and pastas. After dinner students can taste icecream, cake, pie, and cookies made fresh by dining services.

The dining service staff prepares breakfast, lunch, and dinner for the students starting at 7:30am.

While dining students can watch the latest music videos, catch up on their favorite sports team or watch national or local news on the "Cafes" numerous televisions.

WATERS HALL

Aside from the Student Services Center, the Waters Hall computer lab is the other social hub of the UMES. Built in 1950, Waters Halls was the cafeteria and dining facility until 2001, when renovation began. The transformation from cafeteria to state-of-the-art information technology center, began in 2002 and was completed in April 2004. Now students can come to Waters Hall to check their e-mails, type papers and lab reports, do their math homework on Math Excel, bust most importantly get on Facebook!

One can also seek technical assistance from the qualified members of the Information Technology department. The coffee shop was recently added to Waters Hall, where students can purchase hot or cold beverages and pastries, to keep their stomachs' from rumbling while they are hard at work.

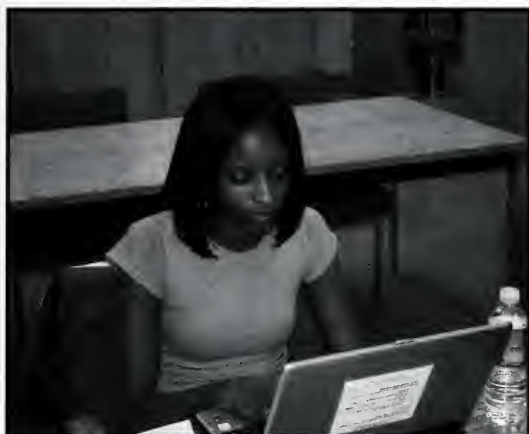

Water's Hall is an environment for students to study and do homework on the computers and in the lobby area.

The Hall also has a fully functional coffee shop that serves hot fresh coffee, tea, and cappuccino along with bagels and muffins.

During final exams the hours of operation change to meet the needs of students. Most nights during exams the hall is open twenty-four hours for those late night studiers.

Frederick Douglass Library

The Frederick Douglass Library functions as a viable component of the University's academic program through an organized structure which embraces Public and Technical Services. There are nine closely interrelated departments which render academic support services to students who engage in undergraduate and graduate study, continuing education and research, and also to faculty who employ both traditional and innovative methodology in the teaching-learning process and research of the university. Rendering service to the entire university community in support of teaching, research and service is the primary purpose of the library.

The Library serves as a place for students to study and read in a quiet environment. It also holds the campus' history and books that help students in all areas of studies.

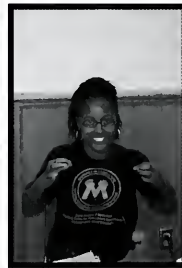

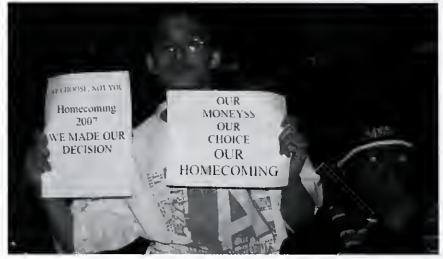

Students who study in the library can check out laptops that are wireless equipped. They may also check out books, magazines, and other study materials at their leisure.

The library staff is friendly and eager to assist students in finding anything they may need. The staff also offers a class that assist students on finding information in the libraries databases.

DRIVING

The UMES Golf Academy opened on February 21, 2004 and began teaching students, and youth who attend the campus during the summer months. The golf academy now has a full self service driving range located on the campus. This gives everyone in the community, students, faculty and staff the opportunity to practice their swing or learn the art of golfing. Not only is there a driving range, but there is also an indoor putting area and classroom. The students can have their technique critiqued in the classroom before going out on the driving range. The goal of the class is to teach students the benefits and the excitement you can gain from the game of golf.

Homecoming

Step Show

The Annual Homecoming Step Show was hosted in the William P. Hytche gym on Friday February 23, 2007. The gym roared with greek fraternities and sororities showing off their organizations colors and paraphernalia. The crowd responded with the same enthusiasm when an organization would bust out with their chant or "call." But what started this competition of steps?

Stepping began with groups of guys singing acappella, and when groups like the Temptations and the Four Tops were popular in the 50's and 60's brothers started mimicking their steps. This was how stepping evolved. This is why it is called "Stepping" now. Brothers would try to come up with the best steps while they were singing to please the ladies. If you got the ladies you got more recruits.

Much like it is today.

Others say that stepping replaced the doo woop sounds and cardigan sweaters of the 50's. At around the same time as the "Black Power" Movements and Africa centered movements of the 60's, stepping started to flourish with the incorporation of some traditional African ritual dancing and the incorporation of other elements like cheer leading, tap, gymnastics, etc. Over the years stepping has become very intricate and demanding, incorporating props, high levels of gymnastics and other elements found in team sports. Please note that some people want to give the credit to the South African Boot Dance, but it would be unfair to ignore everything that stepping was in the beginning and it is now.

Homecoming Casino Night

The Office of Student Activities along with Entertainment Connection put together a Casino Night for the students. The ballroom was transformed into a Las Vegas casino with a taste of New Orleans's Mardi Gras.

Each student that entered the casino was given fake money to gamble at the black jack tables, or the craps table or play poker. Once the students lost all their money they could release that anger by sumo wrestling with a friend. The students would put on sumo wrestling outfits and step into a ring and wrestle until they passed out from exhaustion. After losing all your money and your energy you could go to the bar and have a virgin strawberry daiquiri prepared by The Office of Student Activities and SGA. While enjoying their daiquiri and some fresh popcorn, students could wait in line to have their caricature drawn by two artists.

The Office of Student Activates and the Student Government Association once again put together an event that entertained the students in a safe environment and allowed them to experience something different and unique.

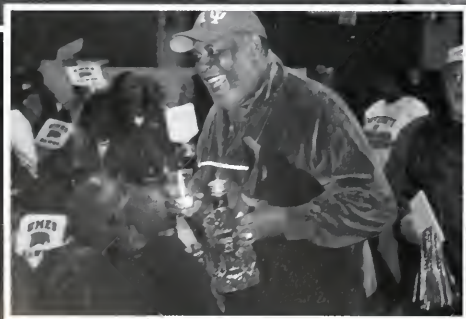

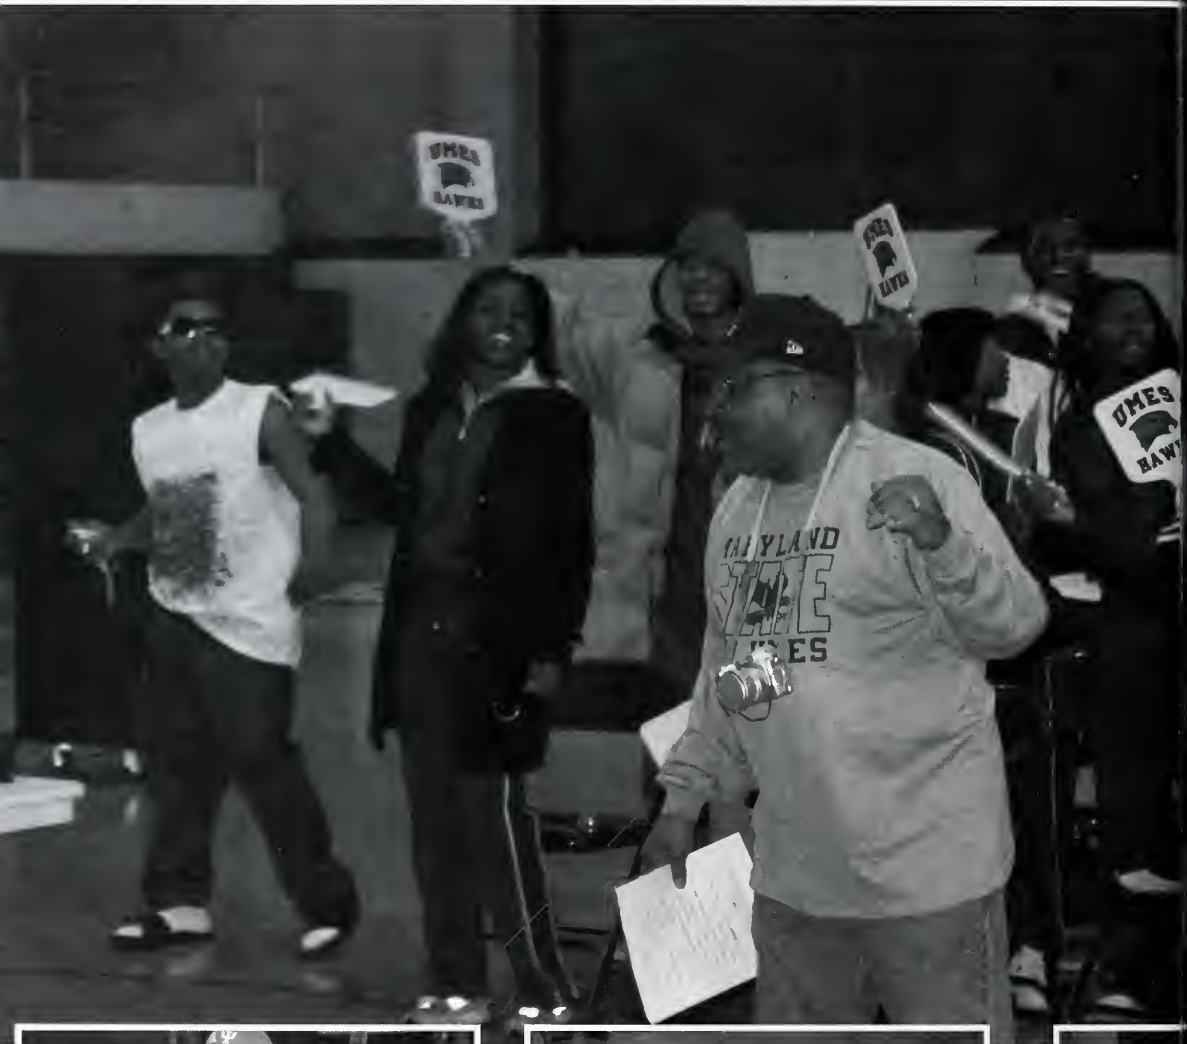

Homecoming Pep Rally

UMES HAWKS flocked in Tawes Gym for the Homecoming Pep Rally. In attendance was Student Activities Director James Lunnermon II, Student Government Association President Mauresha Spencer, Miss UMES, Ashley Johnson, and a host of excited HAWKS geared up for Homecoming. Students had the opportunity to participate in numerous events including a free throw shooting contest, a "Chicken Noodle Soup" or "Walk it Out" contest and UMES own Basketball All Star Game. Students were encouraged to participate in the event and show their HAWK PRIDE. The HAWKS were getting excited for the week full of fun activities and the Homecoming Game. The Pep Rally was a little different from the Old School Pep Rally put on by the Alumni. The "New School" Pep Rally consisted of the latest music played by the DJ and a dance contest. But one thing still remained, HAWK PRIDE!

Homecoming Alumni Pep Rally

On Saturday, February 24, 2007, the Alumni of UMES showed the young Hawks how they use to do their Pep Rallies back when the university was Maryland State College. Before the event began, former hawks soared into Tawes Gym and beginning reminiscing about past pep rallies and football games. One Hawk talked about the homecoming parades that took place in the town of Princess Anne. Former queens of different organizations got together and began talking about the "good times" they had representing their organization. The alumni came dressed in the best Maryland State paraphernalia and waved their pom-poms and UMES fans.

The event began with the infamous funeral procession. The purpose of the funeral is to symbolize the death of the opponent that they were playing that day. The corpse for the day was the Morgan State Bear. The Hawk "Comeback" Choir sang Hawk Hymns as the family of the deceased (Morgan Bear) walked in, along with the Hawk Clergy. The obituary was read by Mrs. Rev. Abba Dabba Blue and the eulogy was given by Bishop Spiked Ike and the always entertaining Rev. Abba Dabba Blue.

The Old School Pep Rally brought back fond memories to the former HAWKS and showed the current HAWKS how to "Shu-Wa" and to really have HAWK PRIDE!!

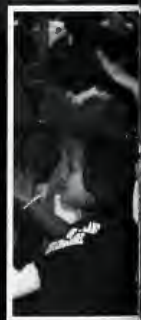

Homecoming Leadership Luncheon

"Learning and Leadership: Celebrating the Past as a Gateway to the Future"

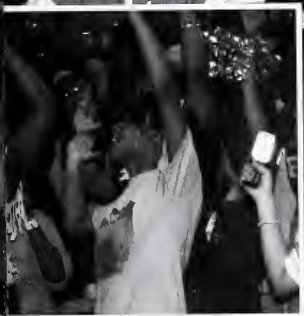

On Friday, February 23, 2007 the Alumni and the present HAWKS had the opportunity to meet and greet one another. The Homecoming Leadership Luncheon was hosted by Dr. Veronica Gerald, Class of '72. The student of leaders of UMES were in attendance and learned how the "Maryland State" Alum hosted a homecoming. There was a "Pass the Mic" session which gave everyone the opportunity to tell a memorable story or ask any questions. As everyone ate lunch the ballroom in the Henson Center was filled with laughs and memories. It was a learning experience for both past and future HAWKS.

Miss University of Maryland Eastern Shore

Ashley Shemieka Johnson was born on August 6, 1985 in Louisville, Kentucky. Currently she resides in Baltimore, Maryland. Ashley is the proud daughter of Carla and Darrold Johnson and younger sister to Darrold Johnson, Jr. Ms. Johnson, a senior majoring in English non-teaching, has been extremely active with organizations on campus. She has been involved in several student organizations including HAWK Messenger Newspaper, Sigma Tau Delta International English Honor Society, National Association of the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), and Alpha Kappa Alpha Society, Incorporated. Ashley finds it rewarding to not only be a member of the HAWK family, but to be involved and stand for something on campus! Ashley has also been involved in several community service projects such as: participating in an after school tutoring program, visiting elementary schools, aiding in the Seagull Century

Bike-A-Thon for Leukemia, and fundraising for the Salvation Army. Ms. Johnson plans to attend graduate school and pursue a career in broadcasting as a newspaper reporter. Ashley knows that she is truly blessed and does not take anything for granted! She knows that she can make a difference in our world and is willing to do whatever the Lord has planned for her! Ashley lives by Mark 11:23 "...Whatever you ask for in prayer, believe that you have received it and it will be yours." She believes that you should live each day like it was your last day, for tomorrow is not promised.

Mister University of Maryland Eastern Shore

Terry Lee Savant Tyler, the proud son of Wanda and Terry Tyler was born on September 5, 1985. He currently resides in Bowie, Maryland. Upon graduating with honors from Bowie High School, he received the state of Maryland Scholastic Award for being in the top 5 percentile of his graduating class. He entered the University of Maryland Eastern Shore as one of the elite Honors students. Terry has maintained the scholastic requirements of the University's Honor program. A senior majoring in Accounting with a minor in Business Administration, Terry has been recognized for his academic achievements which entail three consecutive years as a National Dean's List recipient. Terry has involved himself in several activities and organizations: the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), the National Association of Black Accountants (NABA) and the Business

Management and Accounting Department Honors Society (Sigma Beta Delta). He has also worked in several offices and departments across the campus such as, the University's Post Office, Career Services, Dining Services, the National Youth Sports Program (NYSP) and the Financial Aid Office. After graduation in December 2007, he plans to pursue graduate school and one day with the help of the almighty father, become an entrepreneur of his own fortune 500 company. Terry lives by Romans 3:23-24, "For all have sinned and fallen short of the glory of God, and are justified freely by grace through the redemption that came by Christ."

SGA President Mauresha Spencer

To the Class of 2007:

First I would like to extend my congratulations to the Class of 2007 with the completion of their matriculation at our institution of higher learning. During your final year at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore you encountered many different obstacles that were placed in your path, but you found the guidance, searched for the wisdom of others, and acquired the strength from within to complete those requirements. On the day that you walk across stage, your name entered onto list of alumni that made this university great. As graduates, you have accomplished a task that only a small percentage of our population have obtained. Remember you experience here and that success within arms reached because it is easier to succeed than it is to fail.

As a university, we made progressive strives into the right direction with administration, staff and the surrounding communities. Continue to help the university with its maturing to a level of greatness that is destined for UMES.

In Conclusion, a HAWK is a student who has an unconditional love of our university and in order to achieve that love, you must leave a mark on this great institution of higher learning.

Mauresha Spencer

The Year at a Glance

The Year 2006 -2007 was a year full of excitement and loss. The Indianapolis Colts fans finally won a Super Bowl and President George W. Bush continued to send troops to help fight the war in Iraq. The world mourned the loss of some great musicians like Gerald Levert and James Brown. The Hurricane Katrina survivors are still seeking assistance from the US government and gas prices continue to rise.

In this technology era computer "Geeks" were excited to welcome Microsoft's new program Vista. Television companies competed to see who could make the thinnest plasma or LCD television. This year was also exciting for new drivers. Lexus developed a car that could parallel park itself. It was the only car of its type to do so. Most family vans were being equipped with DVD players and TV monitors. SUVs were getting larger despite the price of gas.

The Ipod continued to amaze its fans by developing the iPhone, which combined the famous Ipod and the new technology of a cell phone. Not only could you now send e-mail and do a powerpoint presentation on your phone but you could now listen to your favorite song or watch your favorite television show.

In the entertainment world, Bob Barker, the longtime host of the show The Price is Right decided to retire after 35 years as the host. Kobe Bryant became the second player in NBA History to score four consecutive 50 point games. LaDainian Tomlinson broke the NFL record for the most touchdowns in a single season with 31 (28 rushing). Everyone was doing the "Chicken Noodle Soup" and "Walk it Out." Beyonce was the hottest female artist and her fiancé Jay Z came out of retirement with the album "Kingdom Come."

These facts are just news today but when you look at this book ten or twenty years from now these facts will be apart of your history. These will be stories that you will tell your children and grandchildren over and over. So enjoy and remember where you were when these events took place.
